HORECA

EVADAY TEXTILE

EVADAY is all about the love for embroidery, proudly passed from one generation to another. It started with a wish to provide customers with tablecloths designed and cut to their individual needs. Today, we can offer a wide range of table linens, including tablecloths, runners, mats, etc., and our circle of clients has grown up to serve not only individuals, but also cafés, restaurants, and other establishments – all that without losing the personal touch of a family business run by mother and daughter.

Being a forward-looking company focused on quality, durability, and sustainability, we use only the choicest raw materials for all our products. Unlike many other popular fabrics in table linens, ours are long-lasting, quick to dry, lightweight, wrinkle- and stain-resistant, and don't lose their shape even during the rowdiest of family get-togethers!

Furthermore, we turn over all materials left over from the production process to recycling facilities in an effort to make a contribution towards building a circular economy better equipped to address climate-related challenges today and in the future.

To ensure the highest quality for our customers, we've retained full control of every link in the chain of production – from taking orders and making bespoke designs to manufacturing, packaging, and dispatch.

SUBLIMATION

Textile printing

We manufacture with the latest design printing and textile dyeing technology. With a wide-format printer, the design is transferred to special paper, high print resolution is maintained, and ink particles are sprayed in straight lines at ideal points, which makes the letters, lines, and design clear and bright.

From paper, the design continues to textiles - fabric sublimation is fixed on polyester fabric by sublimation at high temperature. The combination of ink and machine technologies provides economical and environmentally friendly direct sublimation printing. Mimaki inks have the ECO PASSPORT certificate from OEKO-TEX®. With the help of equipment specially designed for digital printing. The oil heating system ensures even temperature distribution and quality transfer of the design onto the fabric.

Digitally printed design - resistant to rubbing, and washing and keeps its bright colors for a long time.

The maximum width of printing on textiles is 160 cm. Printing is possible on fabric containing at least 80% polyester.
